MORTON'S OWN IMAGES

From the freshman year to the end of the senior year, the Morton student grows and develops a new and unique type of lifestyle. Free time, academics, friends, sports, and general activities are all a part of the students' environment.

Several of the Morton students also spend time outside of school activities. Some take jobs and others have hobbies or spend time with friends.

Most of the Morton students reflect back to the high school years as some of the best years of life. High school gives everyone the chance to express themselves according to each one's ideas and concepts.

As a student body, Morton also carries out their own type of lifestyle. Academics and sports are activities which provide a group involvement.

Also, general activities in the different clubs and organizations provide for group participation. Students learn to work together and to communicate with other people.

As the years pass, Morton's reflection changes according to the type of student body. Yet Morton has many achievements throughout the school years which are a part of Morton's overall reputation.

Toward the end of the school years at Morton, each student has made his or her own lifestyle, and each has their own ... IMAGES.

After lunchtime, the students crowd into the hall to get to their next class.

Senior Chris Wolfe helps the Booster Club by decorating the cafeteria for Halloween.

ATARI

Most Morton students enjoy the time after school more than the time in school. After the 3 P.M. bell, students head for favorite "hangouts" (anywhere from arcades to cruising in cars). Some work for local businesses for extra money, while others work with organizations for fun. Free time activities project the fun Morton students have — only one of many ... IMAGES.

CLASS

English, science, math, and social studies are all required at Morton. Specialized classes in each department lets students study exactly what they need to gain knowledge and skills for future education and careers. Some classes are considered less interesting than others, but most lessons are remembered for a long time. Morton's chances for students to be educated builds futures — helping to reflect ... Morton has many opportunities for students to develop long lasting friendships. Classes, clubs, and other activities give students the chance to meet other students with similar interests and goals, the foundation that friendships need. Ample time during lunch and between classes lets students participate in a favorite past time: gossiping, which helps develop friendships even more. Friendships are an important part of the students' lives — another part of Morton students' ... IMAGES.

COMING AT YA

On the night of September 30, 1983, Angie Keutzer, escorted by Ruben Urbano, was crowned 1983 Homecoming Queen by last year's Queen, Chris Dujan.

The court consisted of Mary Beth Carmon and Manuel Lopez, Sue Gonzales and Richard Berrones, Kellie O'Brien and Jerry Ryzewski, Shelley Pulkowski and Dan Guzek, and Michelle Taylor and Scott Young.

The Homecoming Theme was "Coming At Ya", based on the 3-D craze during the summer.

Spirit week started off with Monday as semi-formal day, Tuesday as pajama day, Wednesday as sports day, Thursday as punk day, and Friday as traditional Red and Grey day.

Other activities such as decorating the halls and the cheering block were organized by the booster club.

Throughout the week, everyone prepares for that special night, which will allow the student to show their own school spirit, their own ... IMAGES.

SPORTS

Morton's athletic department has always been one of the lifestyles which people participate in the most. Whether the lifestyle is in athletic ability or just the spirit, students become involved.

The athletic program offers fifteen sports that one can be involved with.

Students learn to work as a team and how to take on the pressure of the practices and the game. Many of these students spend three to four hours each day after school.

FORMAL IMAGES

On April 29, 1983, the Class of 1984 hosted the annual Junior-Senior Prom. at the Wicker Park Social Center in Highland.

The theme, "Just Between You and Me", was carried out in the red and white decorations. The 124 couples attending Prom danced to the music of "Sunset" and "Looker".

After the evening of formal manners and dress, some couples went to local beaches, while others went to Chicago.

'83 GOVS SET "FREE"

June 5, 1983 was a day filled with cheers, tears, and a few fears. On that day, Oliver P. Morton Senior High School graduated the 318 members of the Class of 1983.

The 1983 commencement exercises were in the Morton Auditorium. The graduating seniors were dressed in red cap and gowns.

The Morton Concert Choir performed several selections. Valedictorian Tim Salach spoke of the future and said goodbye to his classmates. Salutatorian Garry Graban asserted the value of self-image for future successes.

Mrs. Kathleen Hill from the Board of School Trustees and Mr. Richard French, Assistant to the Superintendent, presented the diplomas to the class.

Class President Heidi Mandichak read the class creed and the cheers and tears began as the members of the class flipped their tassels to the right side of their caps, becoming official graduates of Morton Senior High.

MHS PRESENTS 'MATCHMAKER'

The Morton Top Hat Theatre presented "The Matchmaker" as the organization's production of the year.

"The Matchmaker", by Thornton Wilder, is the story of an old merchant of Yonkers. He was quite wealthy and decided to marry. The merchant then hired a matchmaker, with whom he eventually fell in love.

The female lead role was played by senior Tracy Hall and the male role was played by senior Todd Hilbrich.

Other productions which Hall participated in were "People and Robbers of Cardemon Town", "Golden River" and "Oklahoma". Hilbrich also had roles in "Golden River" and "Oklahoma".

This year the children's production was "Aladin and the Magic Lamp". The Children's play was presented to the elementary schools in the area during the spring.

STUDENTS WIN AWARDS

Several Morton students won academic and athletic awards in 1983.

Seven seniors represented Morton at Boys State and Girls State at Indiana State University last summer. Attending were Felix DelToro, Phil Gawron, Jerry Ryzewski, Rick Waywood, Debbie Buhning, Cindy Psuik, and Patricia Skeen.

Mary Gillis received the 1983 Daughters of American Revolution Award.

The 1983 All-Conference winners were in football, seniors Mike West, Brian Elo, Jeff Sinchak, and junior Nick Kolisz; in volleyball, seniors Sue Gonzalez and Ami Sherer; in tennis, senior Dan Prjlevic; in basketball, junior Vlado Petkovich; in softball, senior Tammy Hayes.

Honorable Mentions were won by senior Tom Vrahoretis in baseball and football, and in volleyball, by junior Joy Vandiver.

Special honor goes to senior cross-country runner Sherry Volkman for placing first at sectionals and fourth at regionals.

STUDENTS ATTEND CAMP

Several Morton students attended different camps and institutes last summer.

Senior Ami Sherer and Sue Gonzales and juniors Joy Vandiver, Doreen Bednar, Nancy Minch, Kelly Stevens, Kris Maloney attended a volleyball camp in Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Senior Mike West attended the University of Michigan and junior John Hess went to Purdue Calumet's sports camp for football.

Junior Vlado Petkovich and sophomore Billy Edinger attended All-Star Camp in Rensselaer, Indiana, for basketball.

The Pom-Pon squad also attended camp last summer. Half the squad went to Indiana University and the other half went to Ball State University.

The Varsity Cheerleaders attended Concordia College in Michigan.

Senior Renae Szymaszek and sophomore Tracy Fosnaugh attended Smith Walbridge Drum Major Camp. Senior Jamie Jamie, Szymaszek, and Fosnaugh attended Smith Walbridge Band Camp. Juniors Carol Gaddis, Michele Mikicich and Fosnaugh all attended band camp at Purdue University in Lafayette.

TOP 10 IN REGION NEWS

The following article appeared in The Times on January 1, 1984. Top Hat would like to thank The Times Staff for their permission to reprint this article.

The ailing steel industry was the Calumet Region's top story in 1983.

Soaring health care costs and utility rate hike battles also lead the list of the Region's top 10 stories for 1983, as chosen by The Times' editors.

The year also saw political history in the making with the election of a Republican mayor in Hammond and the first black mayor in Chicago.

And the long, hot summer of 1983 won't soon be forgotten by Indiana and Illinois farmers, some of whom lost up to half of their crops because of the drought.

The top ten stories for 1983 are:

STEEL

When the 1983 industry losses are tallied, they are expected to reach the $2 billion mark — an improvement over last year's $3.6 billion industrywide loss.

The United Steelworkers union lost, too, when it signed a historic concessions agreement on March 1, giving back $1.25 an hour and a portion of the benefit package.

The biggest story was at U.S. Steel's South Works, where the battle for a rail mill and the fear of a shutdown plagued workers all year. Last week, U.S. Steel said it will not build the rail mill, but it will not shut down the two operating departments there either. The company offered no commitments as to how long the mill will continue operating.

On a more positive note, Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. unveiled a continuous caster at its Indiana Harbor Works, while Inalnd Steel Co. and U.S. Steel Corp. announced plans to build similar facilities at their plants in East Chicago and Gary, respectively.

Inland and Bethlehem Steel Corp. began operating their new heat-treating lines, which will help them meet their new higher quality standards of the auto industry.

The industry has operated at about 55 percent this year, up from 48.4 percent last year.

HEALTH COST

An exhaustive, six-month study by Times Staff Writers Lori Olszewski and Timothy Bannon revealed that most of the Calumet Region's not-for-profit hospitals make a profit above the national average for hospitals. St. Anthony's Medical Center in Crown Point was the most expensive place to stay among 14 Regional hospitals in Indiana and Illinois studies by The Times from 1978 to 1981.

Following the series which was published in March, St. Anthony began lowering its rates. Lawrence T. Filosa was removed as the hospital's administrator on May 31, and the 16-member board of directors was dissolved. The Times reported in August that Filosa headed a network of not-for-profit corporations associated with the hospital which paid him $344,193 from July 1, 1981 and June 30, 1982, including $180,000 a year as president and chief operating officer at St. Anthony's hospital.

UTILITY COST

Indiana's Public Service Commission granted Northern Indiana Public Service Co. a 20 percent, $161.6-million rate increase in August. On December 21, however, the PSC began reconsidering if NIPSCO's construction costs for the $543-million Schahfer Unit 17 power plant are reasonable. PSC members said if the rates aren't reasonable, refunds will be ordered.

Commonwealth Edison filed a request with the Illinois Commerce Commission to increase revenues by $462.2 million annually starting April 1984.

ELECTION

For the first time in 32 years, a Republican was elected mayor of Hammond. Thomas McDermott defeated Edward Raskosky — the incumbent two-term Democrat — with 61 percent of the vote on Nov. 8. Raskosky's campaign manager, Brad Bodney, said he was aware three weeks before the election that Raskosky wouldn't win.

Thomas McDermott was elected in Nov. 1983 as the first Republican mayor of Hammond in 32 years.

The Hammond election also produced another unique twist—a tie vote in the 4th District Council race that was decided on Dec. 23. Lake Superior Judge Cordell Pinkerton ruled in favor of Republican Janet Moran and declared Democrat Mark Scholer ineligible to serve because he is a police officer. Scholer is appealing the ruling.

CH. ELECTION

In a radically charged election campaign, Rep. Harold Washington was elected Chicago's first black mayor on April 12, defeating Republican Bernard Epton with more than 51 percent of the vote.

Soon after taking office, Washington's 21 black and liberal aldermen squared off in council chambers with a group of 29 white aldermen led by 10th Ward Alderman Edward Vrdolyak.

WEATHER

With the exception of Cook County, every county in the Calumet Region was declared an agricultural disaster last summer because of the long, dry spell. Corn and soybean yields were 30 to 50 percent lower than last year's levels in most Region counties. Newton County crops were the hardest hit, with a 70 percent loss reported.

Because of agriculture disaster declarations farms are eligible for federal assistance for 1984 plantings. But tighter federal restriction on disaster loans mean the number of people who can apply is limited.

WILLARDO

Lake County Coroner Dr. Albert T. Willardo, convicted of theft by a Lake County jury, resigned May 22. Lake Criminal Judge James Clement reduced Willardo's felony conviction to a misdemeanor, then suspended a one-year prison sentence on the condition that Willardo resign.

Clement also ordered Willardo to make restitution for $4,299 in fraudulent mileage claims which were diverted to his campaign in 1978.

Willardo's successor — Dr. Daniel D. Thomas of Gary — was elected June 4.

KOMYATTI

A Hammond mother and son, a Morton graduate, each were sentenced to 100 years in prison on December 28 for the March 20 dismemberment-slaying of Paul Komyatti Sr., whose badly decomposed body was found buried in six plastic bags along the Lake Michigan shoreline in May.

Lake Criminal Court Judge James Letringer sentenced Rosemary Komyatti, 58, and Paul Komyatti, Jr., 18, each to 55 years for murder and 45 years for conspiracy. Mrs. Komyatti is to serve the time consecutively; Paul Jr. is to serve the sentence concurrently.

William Vandiver, 35, the elder Komyatti's son-in-law, faces the death penalty for his December 19 murder conviction. Vandiver's wife, Mariann, testified against her mother, brother, and husband. Charges against her were reduced from murder to a lesser felony in exchange for her testimony.

cinct committeemen on Oct. 29, former Lake County Commissioner Rudy Bartolomei was elected sheriff over Anton's widow — Anna Nuzzo Anton — by 10 votes.

DRUG BUST

A total of 41 persons were indicted in July after a five-year federal drug investigation, dubbed "Operation Sky-Caine", revealed that 120,000 pounds of marijuana and 2,300 pounds of cocaine valued at $139 million were illegally imported. It was the largest drug conspiracy case in Indiana's history.

Federal authorities charged two Calumet Region men — Ronald Markowski, 44, of East Chicago and George Chiatello, 42, of Burnham — with operating a continuing criminal enterprise involving the illegal importation of cocaine and marijuana.

MARINES TOP NATIONAL NEWS

On the morning of October 21, 1983, the Marines of the U.S. peacekeeping force in Beirut, Lebanon, were sleeping in their barracks at the Beirut International Airport.

At 6:20 AM, a terrorist truck laden with dynamite barged past the guards and crashed into the building. Moments later the building exploded.

During the next several hours rescue workers removed the bodies of 241 dead U.S. Marines.

The Australian II leads the U.S. Liberty in the fifth leg of the American Cup.

U.S. LOSES

The United States lost the American Cup for the first time in the 132 years history of the event.

In September, Australian II beat the U.S. Liberty in the seventh leg by 41 seconds, making the final score 4-3. The event, one of yachtings most prestigious, was held off the coast of Newport, Rhode Island.

EVACUATED

The late winter/early spring of 1983 brought record warm temperatures to the midwest states. However, the West Coast was not so lucky as rain storms caused millions of dollars in damage. The tides pounded the coastline forcing families to leave their homes as the water swept houses and trailers into the ocean.

HISTORY MADE

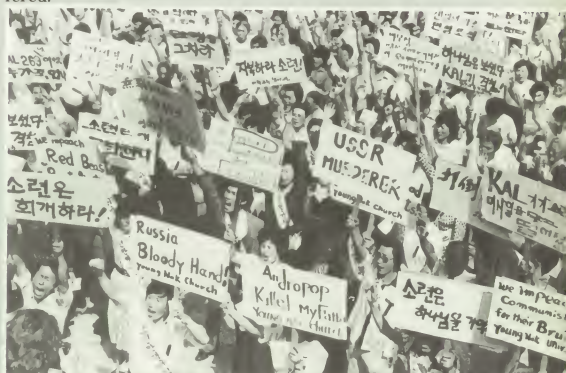

Two milestones were made in history in 1983—the first woman, Sally Ride, and the first Black, Guion Bluford, traveled in space.

KOREAN JETLINER SHOT

On September 1, a Korean jetliner with 269 passengers was shot down by a Soviet fighter pilot. No apologies were offered.

On September 6, 1983, some 5,000 Korean Christians gathered for an anti-Soviet rally to protest the Soviet actions against a jetliner.

The 1983 Morton football team compiled an overall record of 4-6. Though the record might not show it, this was a successful year for the gridman.

The team achieved the goals that were set at the beginning of the year. The goals include implementing a strong passing game and obtaining a more positive attitude as a team. There were also some outstanding individual performances.

Head Coach George Hall:

"It was a season that was enjoyable, challenging, and rewarding because of the players we had who made a commitment to achieve to the best of their ability."

CROSS COUNTRY

The 1983 Morton cross-country season was highlighted by the performance of senior Sherry Volkman. Volkman was the girls' cross-country conference champ, as well as the sectional champ. She then placed fourth in the regionals and qualified for the state meet.

The team as a whole had a somewhat disappointing season, finishing with a 3-7 overall record.

Head Coach William Archer: "We developed maturity as we went through the season and finished by beating some teams in sectional, that had defeated us earlier in the season."

TENNIS

The 1983 Morton boy's tennis team compiled an impressive record of 6-1 in the Indiana Lake Shore Conference. Their conference record earned the team a tie for second in the conference. The raquetmen had an overall season record of 10-4.

Highlighting the individual performances was senior Dan Prljevic, who won the number two singles championship.

Prljevic, who was the team's captain, was voted Most Valuable player and senior Bill Todd, Most Improved.

Head Coach Jerry Woodward: "We had several experienced players, and this resulted in a good season. It will be difficult to replace the six seniors on the team because they were our leaders."

VOLLEYBALL

The Morton volleyball team capped off the 1983 season by winning their fifth straight sectional title and the Governors' sixth in the last seven years.

The Lady Gov's, with a 17-14 record, were not picked to win the sectional, but over came their regular season problems to post a thrilling sectional victory at home.

Head Coach Aletta Hicks:
"This was probably one of the best sectionals I've ever had because these kids had to work so hard together in order to get it."

The 1983-84 Morton basketball team finished its season with a 7-12 overall record. The cagers placed fourth in the Indiana Lake Shore Conference.

Though the team's record may not show it, they held most of their opponents under their scoring average.

Head Coach Russ Marcinek:

"Turnovers were our major problem this season. If we had controlled our turnovers better, we could have finished with a much better record."

GIRLS BASKETBALL

The 1983-84 Morton girls varsity basketball team had a very disappointing season, finishing with an overall season record of 7-11. The team finished sixth in the Indiana Lake Shore Conference. The team lost to cross-town rival, Gavit, in the final round of Sectional play.

Head Coach Sherry Williams:

"I'm disappointed that we weren't a .500 ball club this year. I'm probably more disappointed that we never reached a level of consistency in our play. We have a lot of players coming back next year so I'm optimistic that we can improve our record."

WRESTLING

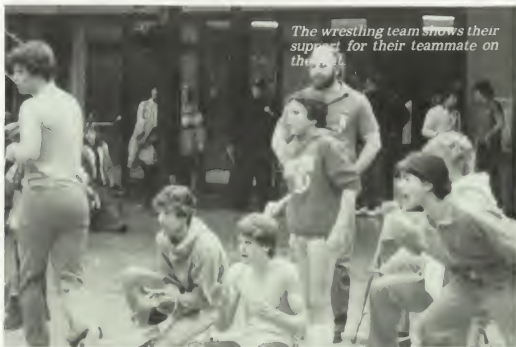

The 1983-84 Morton wrestling team finished its season with a 4-6 overall record. The matmen began the season on a bad note, losing thier first five matches. As the season progressed the team pulled together to win four out of their last five matches.

Strong individual performances were turned in by senior co-captains Tim Jolink and John Michelin with records of 13-8 and 11-7, respectively. Sophomore Don Bednar, with a record of 12-6, was voted Most Valuable.

Head Coach Fred Kepler:

"We were really happy about the way we picked up strength at the end of the season. We wished we had done as well at the beginning of the season.

SWIMMING

The 1983-84 Morton swim team finished the season with an even 6-6 overall record. The mermen placed 3rd in the Indiana Lake Shore Conference.

Throughout the season, the team was plagued with the problem of being undermanned. Many events had to be forfeited because there were not enough swimmers.

Some strong individual performances highlighted the year. Seniors Rick Waywood and Rob Rycerz did particularly well.

Head Coach Peter Kopercinski:

"Too many kids don't take pride in sports at Morton. We lost a few meets that could have been won had we had more swimmers."

BASEBALL

The 1983 Morton baseball team finished a disappointing second in the Lake Shore Conference behind Bishop Noll. They had an overall record of 19-7 for the season.

The team was led by seniors Rob Hernandez and Jeff Sullivan who batted .405 and .368 respectively. In the pitching department, the batmen were led by seniors Tom Corak, Jeff Sullivan, and Mark Wilson with records of 6-2, 5-3, and 5-3, respectively.

Head Coach Jack Georgas:

"Although we had one of the best winning records in the state, and one of the best in Morton History, it was a frustrating season because we took second in the Indiana Lake Shore Conference, and lost in sectionals."

Arriving safely at third base, senior Rob Hernandez checks to see where the ball is.

Coach Greg Jancich and senior Tom Corak discuss the pitching strategy that will be used during the game.

Hoping to score, senior Bob Gatlin rounds the bases at full speed.

TRACK

The 1983 track team had a very disappointing season. Due mainly to having a very young team, they compiled a season record of two wins and six losses.

Junior Bruce Lewis contributed one bright spot during the season. Lewis qualified for the regionals in the high hurdles.

Head Coach William Archer:

"With a very young team we did not have good team balance, therefore did not score enough points in the various events to have a winning season. We did show improvement throughout the season and expect to do much better in the upcoming year."

Senior Tim Solan practices his start right before he runs in a relay.

Frosh Jim Balta runs toward the finish.

GOLF

The 1983 Morton golf team finished their season third in the conference with a 6-6 record. They finished behind first place Gavit and Whiting and Bishop Noll, who tied for second. The team also finished third in the Indiana Lake Shore Conference Tournament behind Gavit and Whiting. Overall, the clubmen were 7-8 during regular season play.

Senior Garry Graban was voted team captain and Most Valuable Player. Sophomore Dave Ferris was voted Most Improved.

Head Coach Fred Kepler:
"Even though we had a young team, I feel that we did very well this year. I am looking forward to having a more experienced squad next year."

SOCCER

The 1983 Morton soccer team finished its season with a 7-3 overall record. They were 6-2 during regular season play and 1-1 in the playoffs.

The kickmen started off the season with two consecutive wins before losing to E.C.W. The only other losses came to Clark, once in season play and once during the playoffs.

Highlighting the squad was some exceptional playing from senior Scott Hankins and junior Ed Gomez, who was the team high scorer. Some outstanding play was also turned in by juniors Don Bacso and Rob Mackinday.

Head Coach John Pimentel:

"I wasn't totally disappointed with the season because the team played well, had a good winning attitude, and knew what to do to win."

GIRLS TRACK

One bright spot of the 1983 Girls Track season was the accomplishments of junior Sherry Volkman. Volkman placed first in the mile and second in the half mile during the conference meet. Volkman then went to place first in the mile and second in the half mile in sectionals. In regionals, she placed fourth, and in state placed sixth in the half-mile.

Other individuals also placed well in the conference meet. Senior Janet Rutkowski placed ninth in the shotput and freshman Michelle Troksa placed seventh in the high jump.

The team as a whole did not do too well, winning only one match, while losing eight.

Head Coach Ramona Engle:

"For a young team, we did really well, but I think with another year of experience, we will have more state contenders."

Freshman Michelle Troksa hands off to Senior Peggy Stephens in a relay.

Senior Liz Bonilla just barely clears the bar during a track meet.

GIRLS TENNIS

The 1983 Morton girl's tennis team had a very respectable year, finishing second in the Indiana Lake Shore Conference. The team's overall record was 7-6.

Highlighting the team was the performance of senior Nancy Babbit, who went undefeated in conference play.

Head Coach Terri Miller:

"The team did very well because it had a lot of talent. All the girls worked very hard all season. We will certainly miss the seniors who graduated."

Senior Nancy Babbit concentrates as she returns her opponents serve.

NHS/DEBATE

The National Honor Society, sponsored by Mrs. Alberta Lungren, is an honorary organization for selected juniors and seniors.

Students must first pass several requirements before being inducted every March. Seniors must have a 3.2 grade point average and juniors must have a 3.5 grade point average before they can even receive an application for NHS. Students must also be involved in community and extracurricular activities. They must excel in areas of scholarship, leadership, and service. The faculty then chooses the members after reviewing the applications.

The Debate Team, coached by Mr. Doug Fix, traveled to meets in Highland, Columbia City, Butler University, West Lafayette, and Notre Dame this year. Losing one half of the team to graduation, the team was very young and inexperienced. Senior Debbie Buhring was the only returning varsity member on the team. Composed mostly of sophomores and juniors, the group did very well winning 80% of their competitions. These students have the opportunity of improving public speaking skills which will be a lot of help in the future.

ACADEMICS

CLASSES TEACH SKILLS

The academic section of Morton not only includes traditional classes but also several different types of academic classes and a variety of electives.

The traditional classes of English, math, and science are mainly to improve the basics.

Taking more complex classes from such electives as world and English literature to developmental reading and advanced composition is for those who wish to continue in formal education.

The Foreign Language Department offers French, German, and Spanish, which may be taken all four years of high school. In these classes, beginning students learn simple phrases and verb conjugations. Advanced students learn actual conversations.

The Social Studies Department offers more than the requirements of U.S. history for juniors, and government for seniors. Economics was changed from a required course to a recommended course for seniors. The department also offers such courses as geography, psychology, sociology and world history. They have basic, yet a wide field of studies of the past, present, and inner studies of social life.

The Science Department has a vast array of courses. One learns the basic structure of life in the biology and health and safety classes. Elective classes consist of zoology, animal behavior, botany, physics, chemistry, and earth science. In these classes, students learn the process of life. In classes as zoology and animal behavior, students observe the behavior of animals by experiments.

Morton offers a variety of math classes ranging from general math to calculus. College preparatory students are required to take algebra and geometry. Also offered is business math which deals with business careers.

The business courses, including typing, shorthand, clerical practice, accounting and general business, are also important to learning. They offer students the basis of general offices, secretarial work or accounting careers.

The Fine Arts Department consists of art, instrumental and vocal music. The music department includes band, music theory, music history, and several choirs. The band performs for football and basketball games and march in parades. The concert and mixed choirs sing in public concerts. Art provides students with an opportunity to express his/her creativity.

Consumer Education offer courses as child development, foods and clothing. These prepare students for future homemaking. The purpose of home economics is to help people with the problems of domestic chores as proper dress, and how to cook. Students develop an understanding of health care throughout the life cycle in family health.

The Industrial Arts Department consists of electronics, metals, woods, and mechanical drawing classes. Each class is designed to help students who plan to go on to careers dealing with Industrial Technology. Such things as blueprint reading and drawing, fixing machines, and making projects are all part of these courses.

The Physical Education Department comes next. All students are required to take one year of gym to meet graduation requirements. Students are taught the basic skills in such sports as tennis, football, basketball, swimming, and golf. Advanced courses consist of further physical improvement.

The band which performs for games practices fifth hour in band class

TEACHERS SET EXAMPLE

The faculty at Morton does more than just teach, sponsor clubs, or do assigned extra-curricular activities. The teachers get involved in the shaping of the students both inside and outside of school.

When students become involved in extra-curricular activities they participate and learn from their experiences and mistakes. By being given responsibilities and being guided, the students learn independence and develop confidence in themselves.

A student learns more from a teacher than just the subject the teacher is teaching. By helping out the students in various ways, the teachers pose an impression on the teen-agers, so that when the students get older, they will project on what the teachers have taught.

Students may look up to the adults and follow their examples. Students watch the adults take their actions into consideration, and learn from these experiences.

•The teachers and the staff at Morton are helping to develop society, and will help a student, in the future, to become responsible.

Along with developments and responsibilities there were some changes in the faculty this year.

Mr. Anthony Waring, art teacher and head of the art department, retired after 30 years of teaching at Morton. The new teacher is Mr. Rob Fischer, who taught at Gavitt High School before coming to Morton. Mr. Walter Ruff retired at the end of the 1983 school year after teaching social studies, Latin, and English for 36 years. Miss Colantha Hill, who taught Home Ec for 3 years, is now teaching at Hammond High. Mrs. Mary Lacy, who taught business, was also transferred to Hammond High. Mr. Joel Romero, who taught Industrial arts for 5 years is now at Clark High School. In addition, Mrs. Carol Brundidge, Social Worker of the Year for the state of Indiana, will work inside of Morton as well as the other schools in Hessville.

IN MEMORY

Miss Wilma Clair, a Hammond educator the past 34 years, died of leukemia in St. Mary Hospital in Rochester, Minnesota, April 25, 1983.

Miss Clair, valedictorian of Mendon Township High School's Class of 1941, earned a bachelor's degree from Western Illinois University and a master's degree from Loyola University in Chicago.

"She was a very caring person," commented Principal Steve Stavros. "What really impressed me was that she was always willing to do that little extra for the students; even if it meant bending the rules sometimes."

SENIOR

SENIORS BID ADIEU

The time has come to donn our caps and gowns, and bid a teary adieu to all as the last year of high school has ended. Though friends part and life brings dramatic changes, the memories will linger on.

The senior year was filled with happiness and sadness. As June neared, memories invaded the minds of many, and thoughts from the last few years of high school came rushing back. Of course, the most vivid memories were those of the final year experienced at Morton.

Senior year consisted of many activities. Homecoming was a special time for the Class of 1984 because it was the last one. Powder Puff, which was scheduled during homecoming week, added to the excitement.

Special events for most seniors were the last winter formal in November and the Junior Senior Prom in April. Some students will always hold special memories of the awards and scholarships received during the last year of high school.

Graduation brings serious thinking about one's past, present, and future. For some college is the next step; for others there is marriage, work, or just a brief time to decide what to do in life.

UNDERCLASS

'85 AWAITS FINAL YEAR

For the juniors, the countdown is on as the light at the end of the tunnel is just ahead.

The question running through the minds of most juniors is, "How can senior year arrive so soon?" During freshman year, becoming a senior seemed so far away but the years passed quickly, and the time has arrived for the juniors to serve their long waited term at the top of the "totem pole".

As freshman, what classes to take was the biggest decision and what class ring to purchase was the biggest decision during the sophomore year. The main decision junior year was the theme and all involved in making a successful prom. The theme chosen for the 1983-1984 prom, which took place at the Wicker Park Social Center on April 27, was "Steppin Out" and the colors selected for the occasion were blue and silver.

At the time, the decisions were of great importance but do not compare to those to be made in the years ahead. Now suddenly, the juniors are faced with the decision of what will become of one's life after graduation. That determination of which could effect the outcome of one's entire future.

This year was also filled with a lot of fun as the junior girls were given the chance to compete in the annual Powder Puff game. Although they were defeated by the seniors, 34-26, the juniors never lost their spirit.

The Class of '85 looks ahead with great anticipation and some with a bit of sadness for just as quickly as senior year arrived it will also come to an end. Some juniors believe that senior year is a time for having fun and not worrying about grades, others believe that it is a time to do the best they can academically to prepare themselves for college. But, all will focus on making of memories that will stay fresh in the minds of the Class of '85 for many years to come.

FINALLY!

The time is finally coming when the Class of '86 can safely say that they are "upperclassmen." Without a doubt, the Class of '86 is halfway to the top.

In the midst of the 1983-84 school year a number of things took place for the sophomore class, one of them being the traditional purchasing of class-rings.

With the help of class sponsors, Mr. David Lindsey and Ms. Nora Mann, class officers, and members of the sophomore class, raffle tickets were sold to raise money for the 1985 prom. The Class of '86 would like to attempt something totally different for their prom but the final plans are still in the making.

The sophomore class also worked hard academically to meet graduation requirements — biology, English 3 & 4 and a math class — geometry or math 3 & 4 were just a few of the classes taken.

Homecoming was not an exceptionally happy time for the sophomore class, as their float placed last in the homecoming parade.

With junior year in mind, the Class of '86 bid a farewell to the title "underclassmen".

Class sponsors Ms. Nora Mann and Mr. David Lindsey.

FROSH BEGIN

The Class of '87 got off to an extra difficult start as freshmen. Along with the traditional problems that come along with starting high school such as initiation, the freshman were left without a class sponsor.

The freshman soon found out that fitting in at high school was not as big a deal as it once seemed to be, as it did not take very long for one to get acquainted with the system at Morton.

The freshman class did not take a big part in homecoming due to the problem of not having sponsors but the class was represented by Sheryl Reyes and Shannon Doughman as freshman attendants in the homecoming court.

English 1 & 2, health and safety, physical education, and a math class — Algebra or Math 1 & 2, were just a few of the classes taken during one's freshman year to begin to meet graduation requirements.

The Class of '87 is beginning to consider the agenda that they will be faced with during the sophomore year. Getting started with fundraisers to prepare themselves financially for prom and the purchasing of classrings are just a few examples found on the list.

All of the students life he/she was told what to do and when to do it but seldom told why, as freshman, one discovers that a big advantage of high school is being able to make some of one's own decisions, the student also discovers that he must likewise learn to live with these decisions.

IMAGES

I'd like to express much thanks to this year's Top Hat staff. Everyone worked together wonderfully and met their deadlines. The whole staff worked hard in putting this yearbook together. Whether it was drawing up layouts, cropping pictures, selling ads or writing captions, everyone helped each other. I'd also like to thank Mr. Scott Markley, our advisor, for all the help and inspiration. I don't think that words can express what I learned from being involved in putting a yearbook together.

It can be frustrating for an editor when he/she had to do one thing over and over until it's done correctly. While working on a yearbook or even a newspaper, one can never expect to do something one time and get it right. It's a process that takes patience, time, and devotion.

We chose the theme "Images" because we feel it symbolizes our four years of high school. High school provides each student with an "image" of many different careers and lifestyles. It is the time when one must start considering an avenue. The avenue, in turn, may be chosen on an impression, an "image", that he/she received while in high school.

We hope that each student at Morton will again read Top Hat several years from now and the book will provide the stimuli that brings back all of the good times and dreams that each student shared with friends. After all, they can say these are the best of times!

the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are undernourished has increased from 600 million to 800 million.

There are a number of reasons why the world's population is still hungry. First, the world's population is growing rapidly. In 1990, the world's population was 5.3 billion. By 2000, it had grown to 6.1 billion. By 2010, it is projected to reach 7.1 billion. This rapid population growth is putting increasing pressure on the world's food resources. Second, the world's food resources are being used inefficiently. In many countries, a large proportion of the food that is produced is lost or wasted. For example, in the United States, it is estimated that 40% of the food that is produced is lost or wasted. This is a huge waste of resources.

Third, the world's food resources are being used inequitably. In many countries, the food that is produced is not distributed evenly. A small number of people are able to afford to buy food, while a large number of people are unable to do so. This is a major cause of hunger and malnutrition. Fourth, the world's food resources are being used unsustainably. In many countries, the land and water resources that are used to produce food are being depleted. This is a major threat to the world's food resources in the long term.

There are a number of things that can be done to address the world's food problems. First, the world's population growth needs to be slowed down. This can be done by providing access to family planning services. Second, the world's food resources need to be used more efficiently. This can be done by reducing food waste and improving food storage and distribution. Third, the world's food resources need to be used more equitably. This can be done by providing access to food for all people. Fourth, the world's food resources need to be used more sustainably. This can be done by protecting the land and water resources that are used to produce food.

There are a number of organizations that are working to address the world's food problems. The United Nations World Food Programme (WFP) is one of the largest organizations in the world that is working to provide food and nutrition assistance to people in need. The WFP has been successful in providing food and nutrition assistance to millions of people in over 100 countries. Other organizations that are working to address the world's food problems include the International Fund for Agricultural Development (IFAD), the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO), and the World Bank.

There are a number of challenges that are facing the world's food resources. One of the major challenges is the increasing demand for food. As the world's population grows, the demand for food will continue to increase. This is putting increasing pressure on the world's food resources. Another major challenge is the increasing cost of food. In many countries, the cost of food is rising rapidly. This is making it difficult for people to afford to buy food. A third major challenge is the increasing degradation of the land and water resources that are used to produce food. This is a major threat to the world's food resources in the long term.

There are a number of things that can be done to address these challenges. First, the world's population growth needs to be slowed down. This can be done by providing access to family planning services. Second, the world's food resources need to be used more efficiently. There are a number of things that can be done to ensure that the world's food resources are used sustainably. First, the land and water resources that are used to produce food need to be protected. This can be done by implementing sustainable land and water management practices. Second, the food that is produced needs to be distributed evenly. This can be done by providing access to food for all people. Third, the food that is produced needs to be used efficiently. This can be done by reducing food waste and improving food storage and distribution. Fourth, the food that is produced needs to be used equitably. The increase in the number of people aged 65 and over is also expected to have a significant impact on the UK's housing market. The number of people aged 65 and over who own their own home is expected to decline from 7.5 million in 1990 to 5.5 million in 2020 (Office of National Statistics 2000).

The increase in the number of people aged 65 and over is also expected to have a significant impact on the UK's transport system. The number of people aged 65 and over who use public transport is expected to decline from 1.5 million in 1990 to 0.5 million in 2020 (Office of National Statistics 2000).

The increase in the number of people aged 65 and over is also expected to have a significant impact on the UK's education system. The number of people aged 65 and over who are in education is expected to decline from 1.5 million in 1990 to 0.5 million in 2020 (Office of National Statistics 2000).

The increase in the number of people aged 65 and over is also expected to have a significant impact on the UK's culture and leisure system. The number of people aged 65 and over who participate in cultural and leisure activities is expected to decline from 1.5 million in 1990 to 0.5 million in 2020 (Office of National Statistics 2000).

The increase in the number of people aged 65 and over is also expected to have a significant impact on the UK's environment. The number of people aged 65 and over who live in environmentally friendly homes is expected to decline from 1.5 million in 1990 to 0.5 million in 2020 (Office of National Statistics 2000).

The increase in the number of people aged 65 and over is also expected to have a significant impact on the UK's international relations. The number of people aged 65 and over who travel abroad is expected to decline from 1.5 million in 1990 to 0.5 million in 2020 (Office of National Statistics 2000).

The increase in the number of people aged 65 and over is also expected to have a significant impact on the UK's foreign aid system. The number of people aged 65 and over who receive foreign aid is expected to decline from 1.5 million in 1990 to 0.5 million in 2020 (Office of National Statistics 2000).
